

“ Jason must have lots of people to help, but he always had time for us ”

Valmire, Eraldo's mum

Eraldo's Story

Lots of mums must hear their child complain of tummy ache. So Valmire was shocked when the doctor sent her straight to the hospital and just the next day she heard that four year old Eraldo had a tumour in his bladder.

Coping with the shock was just half of the problem. Originally from Kosovo, Valmire found it particularly hard to understand what kind of help was available. Jason, a CLIC Sargent Social Worker, helped the family from the start.

Valmire said: "Jason really helped me understand what support was available to Eraldo. There were lots of things to pay for, like food and travel to the hospital. Jason helped me get a CLIC Sargent Grant, and it really helped me."
